Prospects in General

By GEORGE WILSON

Head Coach

MIAMI DOLPHINS

This is a press book, and the main purpose is to help members of press, radio and TV interested in doing a pre-season, or early evaluation of the team.

The reporter naturally asks: "How is your team going to be this year?"

We were asked the same question in 1966 (before the Dolphins first season). Our answer was: "We'll be competitive!" (Note: The Dolphins were competitive to the point that their three victories in 1966 were as many as ever won by a first-year expansion team.)

We were asked the same question in 1967. Our answer was: "We will be improving, and we will win more games than last year!" (Note: The Dolphins won four games, and the seven victories over two seasons surpassed the initial two-year record of any other expansion club.)

Now, to answer the question for 1968. We think we are progressing, that we are improving, and that we'll win more games than in 1967! We also think we had our best draft last January.

a quarterback not regarded as a question mark position. Bob Griese had an outstanding rookie year. His statistics were among the AFL leaders in passing, and at one stage he threw 122 times without an interception . . . a new AFL one year record. (Note: Griese completed 50.2% of his passes—166 of 331 attempts for 2,005 yards and 15 touchdowns. In 1966, the Dolphins leading passer—Dick Wood—completed 83 of 230 passes for 993 yards, four touchdowns and a completion percentage of 36.1.)

Griese is also among the best as a scrambler-runner. (Note: He led the AFL quarterbacks in rushing, 37 carries for 157 yards and a 4.2 average.

Griese to Clancy

The chief recipient for Griese's tosses was another rookie, Split End Jack Clancy. He set a new AFL rookie pass-catching record. (Note: 67 receptions, good for 868 yards and two touchdowns. Compare this with 1966 . . . Dave Kocourek led in pass receiving with 27 receptions.)

Over the entire season, statistics would indicate that the running game was not quite as good as in 1966. But it was better at the end of the season when Stan (Bronk) Mitchell was made the first team fullback and Jack Harper the number one running back. And the Dolphins won three of their last five games.

Also returning at quarterback will be Rick Norton, the Dolphins number one draft choice two years ago. Much handicapped by injuries over the two seasons, Norton had an excellent game against Boston last year when he completed 19 passes for 216 yards. Running back Joe Auer, who had been the team's leading rusher and scorer in 1966, will be striving to make a comeback. Sam Price, sidelined near the end of the season because of an appendectomy, will also be very much in the chase to make it at either fullback or running back.

Average Age, 23

Veterans picked up in the expansion draft did a great job for us at times in 1966, but the trend was towards youth as the 1967 season progressed. In the last five games, the average age of the starting backfield of Griese, Mitchell, Harper and Flanker Howard Twilley was 23.

The average age of our starting offensive line at the end of the season was 25. Tackle Norm Evans, Guard Billy Neighbors and Center Tom Goode gave steady performances in the offensive front wall. Evans, at 25, is starting to emerge as a real pro offensive tackle.

Also on the offensive line, Maxie Williams, a two-year regular, is expected to move from tackle to guard. Freddie Woodson, guard, was a find as a free agent last year. Charles Fowler and Jack Pyburn had reserve experience at tackle as rookies, and the former is a possibility as a starter.

As for receivers, Frank Jackson and John Roderick join Twilley as flanker possibilities. Both have been bothered by injuries and sickness over two seasons. Jackson has seven years of pro experience. Roderick is one of the fastest men in football. Karl Noonan will be going into his third year of pro competition at split end, and Doug Moreau, youthful regular at tight end last year will be tried at both split end and flanker . . . but could stay at his old spot too. Bill Darnall, on the taxi squad last year, could be a sleeper at split end.

Defensively, in our front four, rookies John Richardson and Jim Riley earned first string positions as the season developed, Richardson at tackle for most of the campaign and Riley at end in the latter stages of the season. (Note: The average age, by the way, of the defensive line at the end of 1967 was 25.) Ray Jacobs, who came to us on a trade from Denver, had a real fine season at defensive tackle. He was our biggest man, in 1967, at 285-pounds. Veteran Mel Branch returns at defensive end and he has had two steady years for us. Also returning at defensive tackle is another vet, Tom Nomina, who was sidelined by injuries a good part of the 1967 season, and also missed the end of the season in 1966 for the same reason.

Bramlett, All Star Pick

There is experience in the linebacking corps. The best among this group last year was John Bramlett, who came to us on a trade from Denver, and for his work as a right linebacker was picked for the All Star game. Frank Emanuel, who had a good rookie season for Miami, in 1966, at middle linebacker, was bothered by a series of minor injuries last year. Bob Bruggers, a second year man, came off the taxi squad to appear to advantage in late season at left linebacker. Wahoo McDaniel, one of the best known veterans in the AFL, saw a majority of action at middle linebacker. Tom Erlandson, a six-year vet, who has started the majority of games for two seasons at left linebacker, was sidelined at the end of last season because of a toe operation. Jerry Hopkins, who has had five years of experience and can play either the middle or outside, is another returnee. (Note: The average age of the three starting linebackers in the last game of 1967, Bramlett, Emanuel, and Bruggers, was 24.)

A bright spot in the two years of the Dolphins existence has been the work of cornerbacks Dick Westmoreland and Jim Warren. Both have done a good job most of the time. Warren was picked to play in the AFL All Star game after the 1966 season, and Westmoreland after last year's campaign. Not incidentally, Westmoreland tied for the league lead in interceptions last year. (Note: He had 10, was tied with Miller Farr, Houston, and Tom Janik, Buffalo.)

Willie West, a veteran of the expansion draft, like Warren and Westmoreland, had a fine season with the Dolphins in 1966 as he performed at the weak safety spot. Last year, however, he suffered a shoulder separation during the exhibition season, and didn't return until late in the schedule. Bob Petrella, and Bob Neff, both second year men, played at various times at both safety positions, and Tom Beier, a rookie a year ago, saw duty at strong safety. Mack Lamb is another rookie defensive back of a year ago who is returning. (Note: The average age of the starting deep defensive backs in the last game of 1967, Warren, Westmoreland, Neff and Petrella, was 25.)

A Good Draft

As for what we think was a very good draft . . . well, thanks to previous trades the Dolphins had six picks on the first three rounds. Syracuse All America F.B. Larry Csonka (235-pounds) and offensive tackle Doug Crusan (255), Indiana, came on the first round. Linebacker Jimmy Keyes (220), Ole Miss, and End Jim Cox (230), Miami, Fla., were both drafted the second time around. (Note: Cox, a split end in college is expected to be a tight end with the Dolphins.) On the third round, we acquired Jim Urbanek (250), defensive tackle from Ole Miss, and Dick Anderson (200), an All American safetyman from Colorado. Jim Kiick (210), Wyoming's leading ground-gainer, operating from halfback, came on the fifth round, and we had two picks on the sixth round, Kim Hammond (190), second team All America quarterback from Florida State, and Jimmy Hines (180), speedster from Texas Southern. The latter did not play college football, but we have to be interested in his speed as a possible flanker as he is a co-holder of the world's record in the 100-yard dash, having been timed in 9.1.

With the addition of three National Football League teams in pre-season contests, Baltimore, Philadelphia and Atlanta, our schedule becomes more interesting, and all of us, the offensive players, the defensive players, the coaches, and the front office hope our team will be more interesting too.

Dolphins Officials

JOSEPH ROBBIE
President And General Manager

He has never made an end sweep, nor a tackle. He has never thrown a pass or a block. But as the Dolphins head into their third season, most South Florida sports fans are aware that the number one Dolphin, in the Miami Dolphins football organization, is President and General Manager, Joseph Robbie.

He is the man most responsible for the existence of the Dolphins as a major league franchise. And since the Dolphins have become a reality, on August 16, 1965, he has made every major administrative move with one objective in mind—a championship team for the fans of Miami.

Now a resident of Miami Shores, Mr. Robbie is a native of Sisseton, South Dakota. As a pro football owner, he is primarily a fan, and goes through the ups-and-downs with his team through every good and bad situation on the day of a game. It is interesting that his preparation as a sports fan and owner began when he was 14 years old. Back then, he was the sports editor of the weekly Sisseton Journal Press.

He is frequently heard as a speaker on TV, and at many sports banquets in the Miami area as he expounds the cause of the Dolphins. He has had good preparation as a speaker too. When he was a student at the University of South Dakota, he was a national debating and oratory champion. And he has had many years of experience as a trial lawyer with an extensive general practice.

Mr. Robbie began his collegiate studies at Northern State Teachers College in South Dakota and continued them at the University of South Dakota. From the latter institution, he received his AB and LLB degrees. He was president of the student government at both schools. He finished his law studies after returning from service in World War II.

Mr. Robbie enlisted in the United States Navy on December 8, 1941, and served until late in 1945. He received the bronze star and served in five invasions in the South Pacific. He later served as an intelligence officer in the active Naval Reserve.

He began his law practice in Mitchell, South Dakota, and while there was Democratic State Chairman and a representative in the South Dakota Legislature. He moved to Minneapolis in 1951 to become Regional Counsel of the Office of Price Stabilization, and later served as Regional Director. He was a charter member of the Twin Cities Metropolitan Planning Commission and was the first chairman of the Minnesota Municipal Commission, a State Agency created by a law which was drafted by Mr. Robbie as legal counsel to the Minnesota Legislature.

Mr. Robbie served as Special Counsel to the United States Senate Committee, which considered and recommended creation of the Department of Urban Affairs in the President's Cabinet, under President John F. Kennedy, in 1961. This Department was subsequently established.

Personal Representative Vice President Humphrey

In 1965, Mr. Robbie served as personal representative of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey on the Inaugural Committee which planned the ceremonies and events for the Inauguration of President Johnson and Vice President Humphrey.

Mr. Robbie is a lawyer admitted to practice in Minnesota, South Dakota, and before the Supreme Court of the United States. He is a member of the Board of Governors and Executive Committee of St. Jude Children's Research Hospital in Memphis, Tennessee, and National Vice President of ALSAC which supports St. Jude Hospital. He is a member of the Board of Directors of the Crippled Children's Society of Miami.

In 1966, Mr. Robbie was the first to be presented the J. Ernest O'Brien Award, as the outstanding trade association executive in the United States by the National Association of Tobacco Distributors, because of his trade association activity in connection with his law practice in Minneapolis.

In pro football, he is chairman of the AFL Player Relations Committee which represents the owners in negotiations with the Players' Association. He is a member of the AFL-NFL Committee on the Chicago Tribune All-Star Game.

Befitting an owner of a football team, Mr. Robbie and his wife Elizabeth are the parents of 11 children. The oldest, Diane, is in college in Los Angeles. The eldest son, David, a Notre Dame graduate, is in medical school at the University of California. Next is Mrs. John Glode (Janet), who has just completed her junior year at Creighton University, in Omaha, Neb., where her husband attends medical school. Then comes Joseph Michael, who has just finished his sophomore year in engineering at Notre Dame. Of the seven at home, Kathy has finished her freshman year at the University of Miami, Lynn is a recent graduate of North Miami High School, and Debbie has just finished her sophomore high school year at Lear, a private school in Miami Shores. Timmy, eighth grade, Brian, third grade, Danny, second grade, and the baby, Kevin, first grade, are students at Miami Country Day come September.

W. H. KELAND

Chairman, Executive Committee

Willard Hampton (Bud) Keland is Chairman of the Executive Committee and a general partner of the Miami Dolphins. The 50-year old industrialist became a limited partner in February, 1967, then a full partner on September 8, 1968. He and Joseph Robbie, President and General Manager, carry the full responsibility of management for the team.

Formerly vice-president for corporate public relations for the Johnson Wax Company, the tall, husky Keland is now president of the Wisconsin River Development Corporation of Racine. The Corporation is developing approximately 4,000 acres as a year-round resort west of Madison, on the Wisconsin River. Keland is also owner of the Johnson Keland Land Company, the Iowa County Development Company and the Keland Farm Corporation. The cattle operations are in Iowa and Wisconsin.

Keland has been married 24 years to the former Karen Johnson and they have a son and three daughters. Keland attended Racine public schools, and St. John's Military Academy in Delafield, Wisc. His college football was played at Washington & Lee University, where he graduated in 1946 after his schooling was interrupted by four years in the United States Army. He was awarded a master's degree in business administration at the University of Chicago in 1950.

Keland held an executive post with the Brunswick-Balke and Callendar Company, in Chicago, and was president of the Triple E Engineering Company, in Racine, before joining the Johnson company in 1950. He has also been a director of Johnson Hills Incorporated, a department store chain in Wisconsin and Iowa.

In 1963, Keland was elected vice-president and appointed to the Planning Committee for The Johnson Foundation. In this position, he participated in the determination of programs and conferences to be undertaken by The Foundation. He also served as special advisor to The Foundation on behalf of H. F. Johnson, Chairman of The Foundation Board.

Active in civic work, Keland is a member of the Board of Visitors of Stout College, Wisconsin Aerospace Education Committee, Racine Manufacturers Association, Board of Racine Mental Health Association, Racine Country Club and State of Wisconsin Resource Development Advisory Committee.

The Development Advisory post fits in well with Keland's love of outdoor sports, especially hunting and fishing.

The Wisconsin River Development land surrounds Taliesin, the home of the late Frank Lloyd Wright, and headquarters of the Taliesin Associated Architects of the Wright Foundation.

Joe Thomas

C. J. Ryan

JOSEPH THOMAS

Executive Assistant and Director of Player Personnel

The first person hired by President and General Manager Joseph Robbie, after he acquired the Miami Dolphins franchise in late summer of 1965, was Joe Thomas, as Executive Assistant and Director of Player Personnel. It thus became Thomas' job to secure the players to build Miami's AFL entry into a championship contender.

It was the second time that Thomas was handed such an assignment. In 1960, he was the first person hired by the Minnesota Vikings and as director of player personnel, it was his job to build the Vikings into an NFL contender.

As a result of his work with the Vikings and the past three years with the Dolphins, Thomas is recognized as a most astute judge of football talent. In 1966, before the merger of the AFL and NFL, he was able to sign 11 of his top 20 collegiate draft choices. The thirty-one veterans he selected from other AFL teams in the expansion draft, included 19 who had been regulars and several who had gained all-league recognition.

Six Picks, First Three Rounds

This past January, the Dolphins, because of previous judicious trading, were able to make six draft selections in the first three rounds, and overall his work was generally acclaimed for having secured the best draft of players since the Miami team has been in existence.

Thomas, 46 and a bachelor, is a native of Warren, Ohio. He was graduated from Ohio Northern University in 1943. He holds both a masters and a directors degree from Indiana University.

An outstanding end at Ohio Northern, Thomas also played end for the Navy's Great Lakes team. His end coach there was Weeb Ewbank, now coach of the New York Jets.

Following his tour of Navy duty, Thomas began his coaching career as a high school football mentor in New Albany and Rensselaer, both in Indiana. He began his college coaching at DePauw in Indiana, where he was an assistant in football and basketball and head baseball coach. After four years at DePauw, he moved to Indiana University as an assistant in football and basketball. Thomas joined the ranks of professional coaches in 1954 as an assistant to Ewbank, then head coach of the Baltimore Colts. Thomas also spent time as an assistant with the Los Angeles Rams and the Toronto Argonauts before being hired by the Vikings.

C. J. RYAN

Comptroller

Comptroller of the Dolphins is Clement J. (Clem) Ryan, a native of Sioux Falls, South Dakota who joined the organization on December 15, 1967.

As an amateur athlete, Ryan participated in all sports, including boxing, football, baseball and basketball. He received a business degree from the University of South Dakota and served three years in Europe with the 17th Airborne during World War II.

A veteran of 29 years service with the Minneapolis Gas Company, where he was assistant treasurer, Ryan was president of the Minneapolis chapter of the Tax Executives Institute. He was also honored with the coveted Accounting Merit Award of the American Gas Association.

The Ryan family includes wife Kathleen and son Michael, 22, and daughters Pat, 21, Kathleen, 19, and Eileen, 17.

CHARLES M. CALLAHAN

Publicity Director

Twenty years of publicizing Notre Dame football teams provided Charlie Callahan with the background to do the publicity job for the Dolphins.

Now a resident of Miami like all the Dolphin personnel, Callahan keeps busy all-year round spreading the message of the Dolphins.

A native of Lexington, Massachusetts, and 1938 graduate of Notre Dame, the 52-year-old Callahan served in several other sports publicity positions in addition to his Alma Mater. He was Director of Sports Publicity at the New York World's Fair, director of publicity for the New York Americans and the New York Yankees, both members of the old American Football League. He began his long association with Notre Dame following Army Air Corps duty in World War II.

The Callahans have a son, Michael, 14.

EARL R. TRUAX, JR.
Promotion Director

Earl Truax, 43, is the newest member of the Dolphins administration staff. Formerly promotion director of the Miami Herald, he has joined the Miami Dolphins in the same capacity for the 1968 football season.

He is responsible for the promotion of Dolphin ticket sales and community relations activities.

Prior to becoming the promotion director of the Miami Herald, in July, 1961, he had been promotion manager of the St. Paul (Minn.) Dispatch and Pioneer Press. While at the Herald, he was president of the National Newspaper Promotion Association.

Mr. Truax and his wife Bonnie have one son, Scott, who is 16.

JOHN J. (JACK) MCGOWAN
Ticket Director

Experience is an important asset in sports, and that is why Ticket Director Jack McGowan is an important asset to the Miami Dolphins.

He is very much an experienced hand in the sports ticket business. He was one of the first persons hired by President and General Manager Joseph Robbie, not too long after the Dolphins became a Miami actuality. For eight years, prior to joining the Dolphins, he had been the ticket manager for the Orange

Jack McGowan

Tom Grimes

Bowl Committee, and this task meant he handled all the ducats for the New Year's collegiate classic, the Play-Off Bowl, and numerous other Orange Bowl Committee activities.

Last January, he ably contributed to the success of the Super Bowl, as he acted as business manager of that contest.

Jack's early experience in handling tickets came while working at Madison Square Garden in his native New York City.

In the 19 years he has lived in Miami, besides his work with the Dolphins and the Orange Bowl, Jack has allotted tickets for championship fights, and ice shows, and annually for the Baltimore Orioles during their spring training period.

Jack and his wife, and daughter Joyce (who is one of his assistants in the Dolphins' ticket office), reside in Coral Gables.

TOM GRIMES
Publicity Assistant

A native Miamian and veteran Florida newsman at age 31, Tom Grimes joined the Dolphins a year ago. He spent 6¼ years as sports editor of the Pompano Beach Sun-Sentinel, for which he covered all 18 Miami Dolphins games in 1966.

A 1958 graduate of the University of Miami, Grimes worked on all four student publications plus assisting the sports information department. He began his newspaper career as a copy boy at the Miami Herald in 1954 and kept busy as an assistant in the sports department for five years while in college. During a two-year Army tour, Grimes was assigned to the sports information office at the United States Military Academy. He also was publicity director for the Florida Football League in 1962.

Married, Grimes makes his home in North Miami.

Charles Gesino

Joseph Murphy

CHARLES GESINO
Promotions and Sales

Charles Gesino has a varied background in promotion and public relations and sports publicity. He came to the Dolphins in 1966 after serving as a minor league baseball executive for five years. He also served as promotions director for Hialeah Race Course.

A 1954 graduate of New York University, Gesino served as assistant public relations director of the Orange Bowl Festival for two years and as an editor of TV Guide.

He was assistant general manager of the Atlanta baseball club, took the same position at Portsmouth, Va., and moved up to general manager at Statesboro, N. C. In 1964-65, Gesino served as general manager of the Raleigh Cardinals, in Raleigh, N.C., a farm club of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Gesino is married, and has an eight-year old daughter.

JOSEPH MURPHY
Promotion and Sales

Newest member of the Dolphins administrative staff is Joseph L. (Joe) Murphy, a native of New Bedford, Massachusetts. He graduated with a degree in psychology from Bridgewater State College in 1959, after serving four years in the United States Navy, 1951-1955.

Murphy, 38, started his career in advertising and sales promotion with the Standard-Times in New Bedford. In 1965, he moved to Miami, becoming advertising manager for The Miamian magazine of the Miami-Dade Chamber of Commerce. He has also held advertising posts with Charles Friedlander Advertising, Key Enterprises and National Airlines' FLORIDA magazine.

The Murphy family includes wife Beverly and sons Michael and Daniel, and daughters Erin Marie and Kathryn.

The Coaches

GEORGE WILSON

Miami Dolphins Head Coach

George Wilson has been in pro football 32 years as a player, assistant coach and head coach. And earlier he was a gridiron star in high school, prep school and college.

He first played for Austin High School in his native Chicago. Then came a year at St. John's Military Academy, in Wisconsin, after which he enrolled at Northwestern University. With the wildcats he was a big standout at end. He was graduated from Northwestern in 1937.

His pro career began that fall with the Chicago Bears, and from 1937 through 1946 he was a star end for Coach George Halas' team. In those 10 years he caught 111 passes for 1,342 yards and 15 touchdowns. He also ran for three TD's, once with an intercepted pass.

In 1947 and 1948, he was an assistant coach with the Bears. He began a most successful association with the Detroit Lions in 1949. He was first an assistant coach through the 1956 season. He became head coach in 1957.

NFL "Coach of Year"

In his very first year as head man, the Lions won the National Football League championship, and George was named NFL "Coach of the Year." In most of his eight seasons as head coach of Detroit, he was associated with winning teams. For three straight years, 1960-62, the Lions finished second in the rugged Western Division, and each time capped this by winning the Play-Off Bowl, in Miami. In eight years under Wilson, the Lions won 57 games, lost 45, and tied six.

In 1965, George was an assistant coach with the Washington Redskins. On Jan. 29, 1966, President and General Manager Joseph Robbie announced that Wilson had been named head football coach of the Miami Dolphins.

In making the announcement Robbie said: "George Wilson has had one of the brightest records in professional football. He has coached a champion and is capable of producing another. He played in the Big Ten in his college days, and since then has had almost three decades with the pros during its period of development as America's most exciting sport. George Wilson is still a young man looking for new worlds to conquer. There is just such a challenge for him in Miami."

High on his list of coaching accomplishments has to be his work with the Dolphins in their first two seasons. The seven victories achieved in this period is the most ever in the first two years of an expansion team in major pro football circles. As a coach, Wilson is very much a man's man, and one who has good rapport and the respect of his players.

Wilson's wife Claire was his high school sweetheart. They attended Austin High and later Northwestern together. They have five children, four girls and a boy. The oldest, Mrs. Sue Berwick lives in Miami. Next is George, Jr., a Miami businessman in the off-season, and currently a quarterback with the Toronto Argonauts in the Canadian League. Third in line is Mrs. Lynne Wagner, who resides in Detroit. As for the two youngest daughters, Kathy will be a sophomore this year at St. Leo's College on the West Coast of Florida, and Laurie will be a high school freshman at Lourdes Academy in Miami.

LES BINGAMAN (Illinois, 1947)

Lester Bingaman, defensive line coach, is generally given credit for helping revolutionize pro football defenses. A three-time all-pro performer during his seven years with the Detroit Lions, Bingaman was one of the first big, but quick defenders.

A native of MacKenzie, Tennessee, Bingaman played on championship teams in high school, college and in the pros. In 1941, playing for Lew Wallace High in Gary, Indiana, Bingaman and his teammates brought home the state championship. In his senior year at Illinois, the Illini won the Big Ten title and the 1947 Rose Bowl game. During his career with the Lions, Detroit won three Western Conference titles and two National League championships.

Bingaman was a third round draft pick of the Lions in 1948. It was while he was a player with the Lions that Bingaman formed a friendship with Dolphins head coach George Wilson. The latter was then an assistant coach at Detroit. Later, 1960 through 1964, Bingaman served as the Lions' defensive line coach under head coach Wilson.

When Bingaman first came to the Lions he was a two-way performer, playing guard and sometimes center on offense, and a middle guard on defense. But his fame spread later as a most effective middle guard.

George Halas, legendary coach of the Chicago Bears, once said about Bing: "When Bingaman's plugging the middle, the attacking team has to work against what amounts to a 12-man defense."

Bingaman, 42, is married and a South Miami home owner.

ERNIE HEFFERLE (Duquesne, 1938)

Offensive line coach Ernie Hefferle, 53, has been a coach for 31 years on the high school, collegiate and professional levels. The son of a coal miner, Hefferle was born January 12, 1915 in Herminie, Pennsylvania, a town 20 miles east of Pittsburgh. He attended Sewickley Township High, then scrimmaged his way to a scholarship at Duquesne. An end, Hefferle played under four different head coaches. In his senior year, he helped Duquesne upset a great Rose Bowl-bound Pittsburgh team 7-0. He capped his career with a last-second, 72-yard pass reception that downed Mississippi State 14-13 in the '38 Orange Bowl game.

Hefferle's coaching career started at South Huntington Township High (4 years) then progressed to Tarentum High (2 years). Three years of Navy Pre-Flight duty came next, then four more years at Tarentum. A bid to coach at the University of Pittsburgh lasted nine years—from 1950 through 1958. There he developed three All-America ends: Joe Walton, John Paluck and Mike Ditka.

In 1959, Hefferle joined the Washington Redskins as line coach. In 1960, he took over as head coach at Boston College and stayed two seasons. Another three-year stay at Pittsburgh came in 1962-64 before a switch to the professional Steelers in 1965. He joined the Dolphins in March, 1966.

The Hefferles (she's the former Elizabeth Ovsec of Greensburg, Pa.) celebrated their 26th wedding anniversary last December 31. The family includes a married daughter, Mrs. Yvonne Cadwallader of Las Vegas, Nevada; Cheryle, a school teacher at Whispering Pines in Cutler Ridge; and Jean, 16, a junior-to-be at Palmetto High.

John Idzik enters his 17th year as a coach this fall, although he only recently turned 40 years of age. Now in third year as offensive backfield coach for the Dolphins, Idzik also has 12 years as a college coach and two in service football to his credit.

A Philadelphia native, Idzik was one of the most honored high school players in that city's history. A 150-pound halfback for Northeast Catholic High, he won every honor available and was offered baseball contracts by seven big league teams. But he chose football and the University of Maryland. He won four straight football letters and three in baseball. In two Gator Bowl appearances with the Terps, Idzik intercepted four passes, the first pair off Georgia All-America Johnny Rauch. Rauch is now coach of the AFL champion Oakland Raiders.

Idzik began his coaching career at Maryland in 1951, then entered the Marine Corps for a two-year tour at Quantico and Parris Island. He was all-Marine as a halfback, quarterback and defensive back, in addition to coaching.

In 1954-55, he was backfield coach at the University of Tennessee. He also put in a stint with the Ottawa Rough Riders of the Canadian League before returning to Maryland as backfield coach in 1956.

That year, 1948, he reported to the Los Angeles Rams training camp for the first of his nine big league seasons. He became a defensive regular in his third year with the Rams, then was traded to the newly-formed Dallas Texans in 1952. When the Texans were moved to Baltimore in 1953, Keane went along, being named to the all-pro team at left safety.

All-pro honors came again in 1954 at Baltimore. In 1955, Keane was traded to the Chicago Cardinals. A pre-season knee injury ended his career prematurely in 1956.

The coaching career started then, with the Cardinals the first stop. Then came Calgary of the Canadian League, then a post as coach and general manager of the Wheeling Ironmen of the United League. Three years at Wheeling produced seasons of 8-4, 13-1 and 7-7 and two league titles.

In 1965, coach Buddy Parker called and it was off to Pittsburgh as the Steelers' defensive backfield coach. He joined the Dolphins in early 1966 in the same capacity.

Keane, who will be 42 on September 7, is a native of Bellaire, Ohio, the middle of three athletic boys. His older brother Jim went to Iowa and then played seven years with the Chicago Bears and Green Bay Packers. Jim made all-pro twice and once led the National Football league in receiving. Brother Mike played football at Ohio State.

Keane attended Linsly Military Institute before helping quarterback Ohio State to a national championship as a freshman in 1944. He then went into the service, spending 20 months in the Navy in the South Pacific. He returned to the University of West Virginia for the next two football seasons. In 1947, he finished second in the nation in punting with an average over 42 yards. Keane bypassed his final year of eligibility to sign with the Rams.

In two seasons, three of Keane's pupils have been honored by being asked to play in the AFL All-Star game. One, corner back Dick Westmoreland, tied for the league leadership in interceptions in 1967. Another, Jimmy Warren, led the league in interception return yardage in 1966.

Quarterback Bob Griese set a new one-year record when he made 122 passing attempts without an interception in 1967. The record began with the first attempt in the final quarter against Buffalo (at Miami, Nov. 26) and continued through the Houston, San Diego, and Boston games, and through the first half of the Houston (at Miami, Dec. 23) game. In this period, he completed 63 passes for 774 yards and eight touchdowns.

Split End Jack Clancy set a new one-year rookie record in 1967 when he caught 67 passes. The receptions were good for a total of 868 yards and he had two touchdown receptions.

*** *** ***

Quarterback Bob Griese, in completing 17 of 21 passes against the New York Jets on October 22, 1967, established an American Football League record. His 81.0 per cent completions were the best single game effort ever in the eight-year old AFL.

*** *** ***

Right corner back Dick Westmoreland became an AFL co-record-holder in 1967 as he intercepted a pass in five straight games. Charlie McNeil of San Diego and John Bookman of New York, each accomplished the feat in 1961.

*** *** ***

Placekicker Booth Lusteg equalled a league record in 1966 when, with Buffalo, he attempted eight extra point kicks . . . against the Miami Dolphins. Lusteg, now with the Dolphins, made 18 of 18 extra point kicks in 1967 for Miami.

The 28 points registered by the Dolphins in the second quarter against the Boston Patriots on December 17, 1967, equals the AFL record, for points in the second quarter.

Coach Wally Lemm has held firmly to his coaching philosophy: "Football should be fun." Football was lots of fun for the Oilers last year as they became the first team in AFL history to go from last place to first place (Eastern Division) in one season.

In their new home in the Astrodome, they would like to retain that first place look.

Coach Hank Stram feels he must restock and realign his team in several key areas if the Chiefs hope to contend for the Western Division title.

Seven players have departed, five in the expansion draft to Cincinnati. Other men are being tried at new positions.

The most solid part of the Chiefs team is the offensive backfield, comprised of quarterback Len Dawson (the AFL's all time passing leader), running back Mike Garrett (third in the league in rushing in '67), fullback Curtis McClinton and flanker Otis Taylor (the league's fourth leading receiver).

It has been said that the only thing tougher than winning a championship is defending it. In 1968 the Oakland Raiders, for the first time in the club's history, will test the validity of this statement. A few years back, a national magazine called the Raiders the coming team in professional football. That prophecy was fulfilled last season.

Now, a team that has many times played the role of underdog in the past will know what it's like to be the favorite.

Quarterback Daryle Lamonica, "Most Valuable Player" in the AFL in 1967, is among the many veterans returning.

"A Championship Date in '68" is the optimistic election year slogan of the San Diego Chargers.

To achieve this goal, Coach Sid Gillman is plotting a campaign which calls for the Chargers to pick up this September where they left off last December.

Going into December, San Diego had a record of 8-1-1 with a team which had been neglected in the pre-season polls and drubbed in the primaries. But a combination of injuries and defensive breakdowns shattered "the impossible dream" and resulted in a final record of 8-5-1.
